'Maverick' grandad died in plane crash

DEED with a Wingtip: who died in a small plane crash on Tuesday night. The plane crashed on the night of the crash.

Richard GP Connor Morris, known as 'Red', was flying the small plane when it crashed on Tuesday night.

He and passenger Keith Phillips, his wife's cousin from Exeter in Devonshire, both died from multiple injuries.

Oxfordshire County Council said on Tuesday that Mr Morris was 65 and Mr Phillips was 60.

"We were in the airfield south of the town," Mr Morris said. "We were supposed to watch them fly and then they died in the air."

Mr Morris said he was a GP and Mr Phillips was a teacher. They were both married and had children.

Oxford streets run pink

OXFORD's historic pink hat tradition has this year a focus for LGBT

The like race, organised by Cancer Research UK, kicked off on Sunday from University Parks

Over 1,000 women took part in the charity event

Before Sunday 22, took part in the race and said: "I really enjoyed it. It was my first time though and I didn't know what to expect."

I wanted to get involved because my mum died of lung cancer five years and I wanted to do it in her memory

"My friends and family came to watch. It was great to have their support."

Rebecca set up a Just Giving page and shared it on social media to raise funds

The lifestyle blogger from Camberley added: "I managed to raise about £200."

"I think it's a great event and a great cause. It was an awareness of lung cancer and Cancer Research UK."

She added: "It's only for women so it was a bit of a challenge to get it started."

Student speaks out on 'racism' at university

AN OXFORD student has spoken out over the racism that she feels that black minority ethnic students face at Oxford University

Christ Church College student, Rosemary Bengel, 19, from East London, said that being a BME student at the university is like "being a guest in someone else's house"

She described as the common cheer of student society CHUG Campaign for Racial Awareness week and described, and is also a member of campaign group Rhodes Must Fall Oxford

The group is an independent student organisation at the University of Oxford, which was founded by a group of students in 2010

The Oxford group is now calling for the university to take down its own statue of Rhodes

She said: "I was at Oxford College in 2010"

Oxford schoolgirl climbs Kilimanjaro for her baby sister

Olina Mawon climbed Deni's Kilimanjaro for her baby sister

Olina Mawon and her mother, Dawn Mawon

AN OXFORD schoolgirl could become one of the youngest in the world to conquer Mount Kilimanjaro as she takes on the climb in memory of her baby sister.

Olina Mawon, 11, and her dad, Dawn Mawon, will begin the five-day climb on August 7.

The girl's baby sister, Dawn Mawon, which inspired Olina to climb, died in a car crash on November 28, 2008.

Olina said: "The day my sister died was the day we were all together."

Four deny slavery charges

FOUR people pleaded not guilty to slavery and trafficking charges in Oxford Crown Court last Thursday after police raids at a jewellery store in March.

Christopher Joyce, 41, Mary Joyce, 40, Timothy Joyce, 39, and Brian Collier, 44, all of Redbridge, were among 10 people arrested as part of Operation Jayvee in March 12.

Christopher Joyce pleaded not guilty to one count of slavery and one count of trafficking.

His wife, Mary Joyce, pleaded not guilty to one count of slavery and one count of trafficking.

Timothy Joyce pleaded not guilty to one count of slavery and one count of trafficking.

Brian Collier pleaded not guilty to one count of slavery and one count of trafficking.

The charges against Christopher and Mary Joyce relate to a alleged slavery and trafficking in Redbridge, London, between April 12 and February 12, 2012.

Collier pleaded not guilty to two slavery counts and one count of trafficking.

Christopher and Mary Joyce and Collier were all released on bail until August 16, while Timothy Joyce's bail remains in custody.

On 12, arrested, four men were charged with slavery and trafficking.

A 10-year-old man, who was charged with slavery and trafficking, was released on bail.

WIN a VIP day for two at Newbury Racecourse

Dubai International Arabian Race returns to Newbury Racecourse on Sunday, 16 July – and it's not just the biggest celebration there yet!

Headed under the patronage of His Highness Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum, Deputy Ruler of Dubai and one of the Arabian World's most successful owner breeders, it is now entered the 'Champion Day' of Arabian racing with a card that includes three Group 1 contests headed by the Shadwell International Bakhramiyat won by Sheikh Hamdan bin Rashid and attracting masters from across Europe and the Middle East.

There's also something for everyone and five prize draws, complimentary hospitality at the club, a celebration throughout the day. There are also meals at five o'clock prior to the start to see the horses in Dubai and see how they perform in the new season.

Family entertainment includes horse, food, art, a museum, stage and film pictures and more are

Closing date: Tuesday, July 31

Prizes will be won in the Best Dressed Lady and Best Dressed Children's kit competition.

One lucky reader could win for his/her family prize package which includes a sophisticated night view and afternoon tea on a private hospitality suite overlooking the course and an escorted rail to the parade ring. To see the horses and return up close!

For a chance to win simply answer the questions.

From Friday until Sunday mornings including Tom Jones, Blue, Boney M and Lulu will grace stages at Great Tew Estate near Ebury.

Festival first timer Maxine Birchall, 46, said "This is actually my first ever festival I've been to so I was really excited."

"I couldn't wait to hear The Prodigy live!"

"Even though I am not a huge fan, I do like listening to a couple of their songs, especially the ones to cheer Christine Duggan up."

for Fluor-Fluor using $\text{Ca}^{2+}\text{S}^{2-}$

It was just so much fun, and we got to see so many different things.

I personally think it's really important for us to come and see their favorite musicians live and one of the best things about going to the festival is that it's so chilled out.

"It's a really lovely, unworldly and friendly one that's been pretty good."

The year's Cornbury Festival was also a delight for two-piece American band Larkin Poe, fronted by sisters Megan and Rebecca Lovell.

The rock and roll group first gained recognition after touring with Elton John's band in the UK and releasing their third album, KIN, last summer.

"We really like living in the US and Europe," 24-year-old Rebecca said.

The influence on the UK was

Jake Quickenden 'Laid Bare'

Alison Rayner

"PEOPLE are expecting me to sit in a chair and look to be happy while playing my guitar - but they're looking at me like I'm a freak and I'm not," reality TV star and double X Factor contestant Jake Quickenden admitted.

As quickly as he was broadcast on X Factor, so his mental attempt to sink the 19-year-old hit TV screen soon as The X-Factor - Get It? That's how.

But he's having things behind his first music tour - dropping at Oxford's old Academy on Tuesday night, July 11.

"I want to be the very best that I can be and that means changing my tune and every single aspect of myself I have to what I have - the music," Jake admitted.

The X Factor helped me find myself and I'm becoming grateful, but there were chapters in my life and now that I cannot wait to share with you all.

"I think time has made me a better singer."

Before X Factor Jake wanted various jobs to make ends meet as McDonald's was his preferred as a semi-professional footballer in his hometown of Banbury.

Factor and playing in the live shows before being eliminated in the first round of the competition.

He then auditioned X Factor for the 10th season, Get It? That's how. When he went one better and became the winner of the show.

Jake's debut tour 'Laid Bare' shows around the UK before the Christmas season. "I think people are expecting me to sit in a chair and look to be happy while playing my guitar, but they're not," he said.

"There's nothing to watch me tear up here in front of the live shows, they will be on my TV. It will be me and me with my old, a lot of love and passion for my music."

"I am very excited to show people who I am on an artist."

He added, "The Laid Bare concept is based on being stripped back without all the bright lights and studio equipment."

"It was stripped back, simple, stripped back and being transparent is I probably can't be with this."

Classic Vauxhall motors make a comeback

BY reviving the 'Yes' name for its latest supercar, Vauxhall is proving it is as tough with its past.

But the British car manufacturer's long and illustrious history goes back much further than the 1960s hatch car. The first Vauxhall car was built in 1904 in Vauxhall, south London. Before then, the company owned two plants later to be turned over to Lotus.

And this year Vauxhall opened its own heritage centre at its latest, home of various cars from throughout the company's history.

One of the most important is a 1914 six-cylinder open-top motor, but this is a highly unusual piece.

This car is still used regularly and is entered for the 2012 Eastman London to Brighton Veteran Car Run on November 1.

"The car has taken part in the world's longest running motor race event 10 times in the past."

During one of its earliest outings in 1917 it was driven by Vauxhall's then

by James Richards

managing director Percy Baker. And hopefully this year the trip car will be joined by its 1960 big four-cylinder supercar, the Vauxhall Firestorm.

The trip model has completed more runs in Vauxhall's 100-year anniversary.

"Vauxhall has been a regular in the race since the 1930s with other and sometimes led it in our vintage car."

"The year is particularly poignant as Vauxhall celebrated 100 years of vehicle production at its Luton plant, and 90 years of ownership by General Motors."

"We look forward to completing the run again in 2013."

The London to Brighton Veteran Car Run is the premier event in a week of motoring nostalgia during 'London Motor Week', where a series of events are hosted by the world famous Royal Automobile Club.

Forward's future remains undecided as Diddy hit three DECEIT There is manager Lee Clendenen's frustration that the club is not being continued despite being with a strong John Miley offer he submitted a bid. Miley is a striker who Milton United on Tuesday night of Polish Town. A goal, but in the second half, he was hit by the back of the net to three corners with Miley. Had he been looking a consolation for United.

Miley has been at the center of a transfer drama with clubs from higher divisions trying to persuade him to join.

However, for the time being he remains with Diddy.

Clendenen said: "He just wants to play regularly. He's had a few offers that didn't really appeal to him so we're going to sit down with him this evening to discuss his best interests forward."

"We are in a better position to handle a move than we have been at all times."

Miley struck 11 goals for Diddy last season and has been highly rated since the end of the season in May.

Clendenen, who also very happy with the way his team performed in the past season, saying he
